Declaration

GMU hereby declares that all the information on this guide is valid from the date of issuance, and this is the only solid information for all the applicants. GMU reserve the right of final interpretation and amendments to this document.

General Information

Founded in 1938, Guizhou Medical University (GMU) was originally known as the National Guiyang Medical College. It was one of the nine national medical universities under the Ministry of Education at that time. GMU owns 5 direct affiliated hospitals, 9 non-affiliated hospitals, 12 teaching hospitals, and 21 teaching institutions covering 49 majors. GMU has developed into a higher education institute of medicine with influence and reputation in China from the perspective of scale, structure, quality and efficiency. GMU is also the only key provincial university in Guizhou Province that offers a complete medical training system: from Bachelor, Master, to Doctor of Medicine.

GMU International Students Program established in 2014, and has been recognized by WHO,GMC,CMC, ECFMG and WCAME, GMU also has Postgraduate Program for international students. Until now, there have been more than 300 international students from 16 countries were in Bachelor, Master and Doctor program at GMU.

Study in Guizhou

Guizhou Medical University is located in Guiyang, the capital city of Guizhou Province. It is called "Forest City" and honored as the “Demonstration City of Ecological Civilization” in China. It is the political, cultural, tourism and transportation center of Guizhou Province. The climate here is pleasant, with unique landforms of Karst. And the green coverage of the city reaches over 85%, ranking the first in the country.

In addition, the "China-ASEAN Education Cooperation Week" hosted by Ministry of Education has been held in Guizhou since 2008, which makes Guizhou colleges and universities be able to carry out in-depth educational cooperation with ASEAN countries and to respond positively to the Belt and Road initiative.

Admission Program(s)

1. Clinical Medicine

Program Introduction

GMU Clinical Medicine program, established in 1938, is the earliest founded core major in school with most solid foundation and strong advantage.

Our 4 affiliated hospitals and program is recognized by WCAME, our international students from Clinical Medicine program have passed the national medical licensing examinations of their home countries, with rather high passing rate.

Study Duration: 1+5 years

The first year of the program is preparatory stage. Through the intensive training of Chinese, General Introduction to China and medical related basic courses such as medical physics, advanced mathematics, and chemistry, students can meet the requirements for Clinical Medicine major, which cover the ability of Chinese fluency, medical knowledge and cross-cultural communication. After completing the required courses, passing the preparatory closure examination and HSK4, students could continue their study in Clinical Medicine Program.

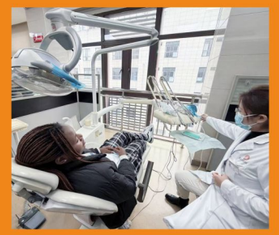

2.Bachelor of Dental Surgery BDS

Program Introduction

The School of Stomatology at Guizhou Medical University, formerly known as the Department of Stomatology at Guiyang Medical College Affiliated Hospital established in 1941, is the birthplace of oral medicine in Guizhou Province. The School of Stomatology and the Affiliated Stomatological Hospital implement a "two in one" construction approach, providing strong support for students' practical internships.
